

FOR PRESIDENT,
BENJAMIN HARRISON
OF INDIANA.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
LEVI P. MORTON
OF NEW YORK.

THE CHINESE BOOMERANG.

The Nye county Democracy have met at Belmont to "point with pride" and "view with alarm" a number of public questions. Among other things the convention toyed with the Chinese question and adopted the following plank:

"We point with pride to the fact that nine-tenths of the Democratic Congressmen are with us on the Silver and Chinese questions, and deplore the fact that nine-tenths of the Republican members are against us."

The Nye county Democrats evidently got their ideas about the Republican party and the Chinese from the Examiner and Alta, and they evidently know nothing about the history of the Chinese Exclusion bill.

The Chinese Exclusion bill was a nice little trap fixed up by the Democrats in the House to place the Republicans in the Senate on record. The bill went through the House like a dog with a tin can to his tail, and when it reached the Senate, old Stewart, who is always awake when such schemes are afoot, exposed the job and called on the Senate to pass the bill and give Cleveland a chance to sign or veto. It is a well-known fact that Cleveland would veto the bill, but he would hate like the deuce to have anything to do with it.

The Democrats in the House saw that Stewart had them in the door, and in order to let the President out of a hole, reconsidered their action in passing the bill.

There were seventeen votes against reconsideration; of these four were Democrats and seventeen Republicans. There were eighteen votes in favor of reconsideration; of these twelve were Democrats and six Republicans. The roll call thus shows that a large majority of the Republicans voted against reconsideration and a large majority of the Democrats voted for it. A reconsideration of the bill means its defeat, and the Democrats are thus put on record as contributing a large majority to this end.

This incident punctures the head of the big bass-anti-Chinese drum which the Democratic Coast papers have been pounding on so heavily for the past few months. They may still pound the drum, but it will no longer resound to the editorial whack. The boomerang has come back on the rush.

A SWINDLING SCHEME.

The Grass Valley Union shows up the traveling advertising swindlers.

These itinerant beats always catch the custom of men who under no circumstances advertise in a home paper.

Some weeks ago one Reilly came to Grass Valley in the interest of a sheet published intermittently for the sake of making money. Many sharpers are working the same scheme; that is, going through the State writing sketches of country towns and supplementing their brief and untrustworthy history of a place with alleged biographical notices of as many leading business men as they can persuade to pay for the sketch.

Manager Brown of the State Board of Trade strongly denounces this system of swindling.

"The men who consent to this are generally swindled as well as laughed at, by intelligent people," said he. The publications containing them are not bona fide, and after the money for the biographical sketches is wrenched from the victims the circulation generally stops.

"It is only a bare-faced fraud, practiced upon gullible people, for the sake of extorting money. While such papers pretend to give information of California, they contain nothing of the sort. It has seriously injured all kinds of legitimate, respectable advertising."
